All candidates earned a C or better4. Candidates averaged 2 on all areas of the assessment

The program welcomed 5 new faculty members with 4 starting in the Fall of 2022 and another starting Spring 2023. Having so many new faculty members required us to review several areas of strength and concern about our interns' teaching and allowed for collaboration of experienced instructors to assist new teachers. In many ways, having new faculty caused us to revisit important components of our teacher preparation program since there were 2 out of the 3 cohorts of students who had class with new teaching partners, 5 returning Liaisons and 1 new Liaison.

The EPP continued administering the Educator Disposition Assessment. There has been improvement in the gathering of EDA data from last year which included all MAT students. The average score this year indicates there have been no issues with disposition which may be misleading since the assessment was administered after interventions from Liaisons and Mentor Teachers. Efforts to reflect growth in dispositions will be noted moving forward with an account of the total who needed work in a disposition area and the specific area of concern.

Program Changes based on Data Analysis

Faculty continued to explore opportunities to implement best practice in alignment with research and literature in educator preparation and clinical practice. Seven faculty members attended the South-Central Area Network of Professional Development Schools conference in Waco, TX in January and 2 faculty presented and 1 attended the National Association of Professional Development Schools in March, 2023. These professional development opportunities have given faculty more models of how internship specifically can work toward continuous improvement.

There are many more Professional Development School cohorts beginning Fall, 2023 which should increase the experiences the Fall, 2024 students will have before entering the internship year. We will monitor carefully how we can build on how and what students learn about effective teaching from the PDS model experiences and using intern observations from Mentors and Liaisons.

Changes to Assessment Process

The program continues to collect professional disposition data using the Educator's Disposition Assessment (EDA) along with TESS data from Liaisons in the Fall and Mentor Teachers in the Spring. These data help us monitor program candidates progress. The program will continue to utilize the continuous improvement process put in place for CAEP accreditation.

Academic Assessment Plan

Program Goals (3-4)

The Childhood Education Bachelor of Science in Education (CHEDBS) program in the College of Education and Health Professions is based on the belief that educators must

1. use and model best practices;
2. approach learning as developmental and life-long;
3. practice on the basis of professional standards and ethical conduct; and
4. honor diversity.

Student Learning Outcomes (6-8)

(Student Learning Outcomes are defined in terms of the knowledge, skills, and abilities that students will know and be able to do as a result of completing a program. These student learning outcomes are directly linked to the accomplishment of the program goals.)

1. Knowledgeable about Content and Pedagogy: Candidates will possess general knowledge, content knowledge, pedagogical knowledge, and professional knowledge to be effective pre-service educators. They must know how to access, use and generate knowledge. In order to be current, they must be inquiring and up to date on new knowledge in their content, pedagogy, and school systems.
2. Skillful in Practice: Candidates will be skillful in the pedagogy required to be an effective pre-service educator as demonstrated through planning, implementing, and modeling best practices including best technology practices.
3. Supportive in Developing the Whole Student: Candidates will create a caring learning environment for all students. This will include being caring, supportive, and responsive to the diverse backgrounds students bring to the classroom and school. The ability to communicate and collaborate with groups of colleagues and others who contribute to the student's education such as families and communities is also essential.
4. Professional in Actions: Candidates will inquire and seek to improve their practice through participation in professional communities. This involves staying current with educational research and working with appropriate professional organizations to better their profession. The candidates will demonstrate ethical behavior in all aspects of their multi-faceted career.

Process for Assessing each Student Learning Outcome

(A process must be defined and documented to regularly assess student learning and achievement of student learning outcomes. The results of the assessment must be utilized as input for the improvement of the program.)

Timeline for assessment and analysis

Each outcome is measured in the MAT year.
