

2024-2025 Academic Year Report, Graduate Certificate in Technical Writing and User Experience Design

Overview

The program was informed that it would be shut down during the last academic year. All active and prospective students were notified of this decision within the university. Currently, all students who were in the process of graduating and actively working to graduate with the program have been graduated from the program.

Student Feedback

Prospective students expressed disappointment at the change during this period. The one final graduate expressed satisfaction with the program.

Plans for Future

The certificate program is discontinued. The only course that will be continued in the future is ENGL 55003, Technical Writing Praxis as it is regularly taken and appreciated by graduate students across the university (and especially in the sciences).

Bullet points:

- Program shut down
- All active coursework students graduated