Graduate faculty status is conferred by the University of Arkansas through the Graduate Council. By accepting graduate faculty status, a faculty member must minimally agree to the following:

- A. If I choose to direct student research or serve on an advisory/thesis/dissertation committee,
- I will immediately make myself aware of the expectations for that role within my program or the student’s program (e.g. forms to be signed; milestones to be achieved; expected duties);
 - I agree to be available to the student, as consistent with my schedule, to provide expert advice, provide up-to-date information about the subject matter, and to act as a source of referral for the literature;
 - I agree to read, edit, comment upon and return drafts of a thesis or dissertation in a timely manner prior to the final defense; and to participate in timely communication with the students I advise;
 - I agree to participate in the candidacy exams (written and/or oral) and final defense as deemed normal by the student’s program.

- I will ensure that my students have met all applicable compliance committee requirements (e.g. IRB, IACUC, Biosafety) before beginning their research.

B. If I teach a graduate-level class, I agree to develop lectures, laboratories and demonstrations that are inclusive of the most recently available published information in the area. I also agree to set up the expectations and requirements for the graduate-level class at a level consistent with the most up-to-date information available and consistent with best practices in my field.

I agree to the above conditions, and understand that if I consistently violate the expectations for graduate faculty status, such status may be revoked by the Graduate Dean.
